IRREGULAR BALL IS CAUSE OF PROTEST BY ST. DOMINIC'S

Tire Tape on Sphere Introduced Late in Game May Cause Much Trouble.

BUREAUS PLAY MARINES

Banner Crowd Expected to See Government League Teams Battle Today.

By BRYAN MORSE.

A tire-taped baseball, the kind used by ten-year-olds for their corner lot games, has caused a deal of trouble in the Holy Name League. Manager Schlessinger, of St. Dominic's, has protested the St. Joseph's win to umpire "Hack" Fanshaw, and President Ralph Gunning is expected to look into the trouble.

St. Dominic's is protesting the game of Wednesday which was won by 11 to 10 by St. Joseph's, maintaining St. Joseph's got away with the game unfairly. In the seventh inning of the battle fought out at First and Bryant streets St. Dominic's had a 10 to 9 lead on the St. Joseph's team. When St. Joseph's went to bat in the last of the eighth two runs were scored, and two had been retired when the tire-taped ball made an appearance.

It seems that after five or six balls had been fouled off and lost, the game was halted because of a lack of baseballs. Huntz around the field failed to disclose any of the lost balls. A youngster volunteered to furnish a baseball, and dug up an apology in the shape of a baseball wrapped with tire tape. Umpire Fanshaw put the ball in play, and the last St. Joseph's batter was retired. The score stood at 11 to 9 in favor of St. Joseph's, and when the St. Dominic's players tried to make up their one run for a tie the court it impossible to do anything with the dead ball. It is maintained that the St. Joseph's players had gotten their ball with a regular ball, and that the St. Dominic's players were placed at a decided disadvantage.

"Hack" Fanshaw has promised to take up the matter with President Gunning, and there the matter rests.

The banner crowd of the year is expected on the Monument Lot today when the Bureau team, leaders in the second series in the Government League race, meet the Marines. Bureau won 11 to 1 battle from the Navy team yesterday. Fowell was on the rubber for the Bureau team, and he held the Navy players to four hits. Bureau made eleven hits off Miller and Schmidt.

Paul Jameson, captain of the Forest Service team, is busy explaining his recent victory over the Marines of two days ago. The Marines were handed an 8-to-1 defeat, pitching Ryan, of the Treasury team, of the Departmental League. Before the game it was explained that Ryan's contract had been mailed Secretary Shurtliff that day.

No attempt had been made to detract from the Foresters' victory over the Marines. It was stated that the Service team used seven new players. As a matter of record, Kelley, Frazier, Strait, and Ryan were the new names on the Foresters' nine, these players failing to take part in the game on Monday last.

GRUESOME NIGHTMARE SEEN AT BALL PARK

Final Appearance of Red Sox for Series Proves Bad for Griffen.

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

The concluding exhibition of the Red Sox in the National's Capital was a gruesome nightmare, the home boys losing 12 to 4. Horrible hurling gave the Griffen the coup de grace in the fourth frame. After that it was a mere procession to the bitter end. Ray Collins at last succeeded in winning a game, thereby clinching his job until next time.

The Nationals hit hard enough and long enough, but they couldn't turn the trick in the face of the painful pitching provided for them. In the first inning Ray Collins' shoots to the faraway places. In vain they made fancy stops and beautiful pegs. They seemed to run for a tie the court it impossible to do anything with the dead ball. It is maintained that the St. Joseph's players had gotten their ball with a regular ball, and that the St. Dominic's players were placed at a decided disadvantage.

"Hack" Fanshaw has promised to take up the matter with President Gunning, and there the matter rests.

ANALOSTAN CREWS GO TO BIG REGATTA

Three Eights and a Four Will Be on the Schuylkill River July 5.

The Analostan Boat Club will send four crews to the People's regatta, to be held on the Schuylkill river at Philadelphia, July 5. The local club will be represented by a senior, intermediate and junior eight and a senior four-oared crew.

Time trials were held over a mile course yesterday by Coach Clarence Hecox, who expressed himself as satisfied with the work of two of the crews. The senior four composed of Boyer, Froese, Crowder, and Willis is thought to be one of the best ever turned out on the river.

President Richard E. Palro, of the club, has nothing but praise for Coach Hecox. "I am satisfied that Coach Hecox is one of the best in the country. He has taken an absolutely green youngsters and developed some of the best crews in the country," says President Palro.

"We are sending four crews to the People's regatta, next to the National regatta, the biggest rowing event in the country. Last year we had great success, and this year we feel that we will give a fine account of ourselves."

"The senior crew is the best I have seen in many years' rowing experience. The only difficulty likely to be encountered is that the members are eight-oared oarsmen, and have had little experience in the smaller boat."

"We may row all four crews at Philadelphia, having entered, but if we are unsuccessful in one race we will hold out some of the men for the last race," continued Mr. Palro.

The junior crew of the Analostan club gave a fine account of itself at Annapolis early in the spring rowing in a strange shell. Since that time considerable development has been noted and all of the crews have shown improvement. Conditions will count more than anything else in the final selections for the seats in the various eights. Coach Hecox will probably have another mile event late today.

TODAY'S SPORTORIAL

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

Cobbie Mack, considered generally the most silent man connected with baseball, says a mouthful, yes, and an earful, too, when he remarks, "As for my own club, the old men seem to be giving only about two-thirds service to the team, and the new ones have to be broken in. HOWEVER, THE VACATIONS WON'T EXTEND BEYOND THIS YEAR." The capital letters are ours, but the words are said to be Connie's.

Unless all signs fail, major league baseball is in for a giant housecleaning this coming winter and the annual meetings of the two major circuits will be fraught with importance, more importance than they have had in several years. The magnates face absolute disaster. They are about ready to admit that they must hew to the line, if they would remain in the business of providing amusement to the country. They see themselves falling down the hill with increasing speed and the bottom spells bankruptcy. To keep the national game in a healthy condition, to retain their magnificent ball parks from being cut up into building lots, the magnates must do away with all their excess baggage in the way of useless, lazy players and also cut salaries in all directions. Without such summary action, baseball as now organized is due to perish from this earth.

"The vacations won't extend beyond this year," says the astute leader of the Athletics. No, and they won't extend into 1916 for any other club, either. The fans have complained at the lack of ambition of the players on the field. Disgusted at the manner of the professionals, the fans have turned to the sandlots everywhere to see games for blood. The glad old days of diamond warfare have departed from the major leagues, but they continue on the lots. Last Sunday 10,000 fans saw two popular amateur teams play a game in Cleveland. Whenever two well-matched teams play on the White Lot in this city some 3,000 fans turn out to watch the games. It is true that no mission is charged for these amateur games, but that fact would not draw a crowd to see a punk, listless exhibition. One reason why Washington fans adore Hank Shanks is because of his liveliness, his attention to the fine points of the game and his ever-burning ambition. Fans like to enthuse, but how can they when the players themselves go through the motions like so many men working on a flat rate in a machine shop?

The magnates will do well to go the limit when they undertake to correct conditions now existing in the major leagues. There is not a club in either circuit but can rid itself of drones to its own advantage. Next winter promises much excitement.

Charlie Brickley's college athletic activities have about ended. What a menace to Yale he has been. A couple of weeks ago Brickley played against Princeton and big league baseball writers described him as a "joke player" on the team because of his name. They grinned at his three strikeouts. They kidded his clownish efforts as an outfielder. Then came the Yale games, and Brickley was in his element. True, he was a joke against Princeton, but when the blue jerseys are opposed Brickley is a different athlete. He won both Harvard's victories against the Yale team.

Upon the gridiron last year in time to knock a field goal for the concluding points in a Crimson triumph, and this spring it is his double in the ninth championship Harvard will not have to keep green the memory of Charlie Brickley, of Everett, Mass. Yale won't be able to forget it.

Michigan's Governor Ends Boxing in State

LANSING, Mich., June 25.—Governor Ferris today put an end to boxing matches in this State when he sent letters to the sheriff of each of the eighty-three counties informing them of the law against glove contests and requiring them to see that the statute is enforced. During the last four years the boxing game has flourished in several Michigan cities.

Wonderful Record

Over 100 persons were treated at the National Hotel in the city of Washington for drink and drug addiction by the Kin-Po method during the period from December 1, 1914, to March 1, 1915. Of that number less than twelve remained at the hotel 24 hours, the great majority being discharged in from 12 to 15 hours. Every case was carefully treated. A number of the cases were confirmed addicts. The institute established at 170 L street northwest is to be permanent. The public is cordially invited to inspect and patronize it. Its literature will be sent free to any address. Call phone Main 3755, or visit the institution in person.—Adv.

JOHNSON THREATENS TO STOP AUTHORIZING

Intimates That Baseball Writers' Association May Investigate Detroiters' Writings.

CHICAGO, June 25.—An expose of, and general fight against, baseball articles written by imaginative writers under the names of famous stars will be the result of the latest Ty Cobb-Pan Johnson imbroglio.

The American League president today dealt with characteristic fervor stories quoting him as saying he would run Ty Cobb out of baseball for "writing" a signed piece accusing the White Sox of systematically stealing signals of opponents.

"In the first place," said Banerful Pan, "I never had a thought that Cobb wrote that story. Cobb didn't even see it until it appeared under his name. In the second place, if I had the remotest idea that any American League player would make such charges without any more foundation than the one at issue, the league would take action without first threatening to do so."

Johnson intimated that the Baseball Writers' Association might investigate the Detroit reporter's mental activities and typographical output under Cobb's signature in an effort to stop such practices for all time.
